PRELIMS DROP FIRE ON LONDON

DROP FIRE BOMBS ON ENGLAND

LONDON, June 1.—A fleet of German Zeppelins raided London in the night.

The object of the raid was to burn the British capital, as shown by the dropping of fire bombs on the city. This is the first time German airmen have struck London.

Many fires are reported. In this, the largest city in the world, the expression "many fires" means more than it would in the ordinary community.

The extent of the damage done by the Zeppelins is not known yet, but the public at least, on account of the attack, is in a state of excitement.

How many Zeppelins there were, never just what parts of the city they flew or what damage was done may be seen at this time.

At 1 a. m. the official press bureau gave out the following message:

"Zeppelins have passed over the city of London."

STRICT CENSORSHIP.

This was followed by an explanatory announcement:

"The press bureau reminds newspapers that to statements must be published dealing with the places and the neighborhood of London reached by air craft or of the course supposed to have been taken by them."

"The Admiralty communication gives all the news that can properly be published."

Then the official press bureau followed with the following slightly more extended announcement:

"Zeppelins are reported to have been seen over the city of London."

Fireman Killed in South Boston Collision

DECLARES WHITNEY KISSED HER BY TRUCK

In a collision between Ladder Truck No. 8 and Relief Ladder Truck No. 8 today Jeremiah J. Fitzpatrick, an employee of the Boston Fire Department repair shops, was hurled from his seat, run over and instantly killed.

The accident happened in front of Ladder No. 5 house on West Fourth street, South Boston, and Fitzpatrick met his death before the eyes of the whole crew of the truck.

Fitzpatrick, who is an old-time fireman, was detailed this morning to take Ladder Truck No. 8 to the shop for repairs. While the relief truck was being backed into the house it collided just outside the door with Truck No. 5, which was being driven by Fitzpatrick, who was thrown to the ground, the heavy truck passing over his body.

The fireman rushed him to Carney Hospital, which is nearby, but death was instantaneous. Fitzpatrick was 40 years of age.

Miss Zanetta Quintal testified that the late Theodore D. Whitney kissed Mrs. Army H. Barker, the comely Brooklyn widow and a beneficiary under his will, "very often" in that Mrs. Barker hoped Mr. Whitney "to get off drinking" and that Mrs. Barker's looks, from the standpoint of beauty, were not out of the ordinary in those days.

Mr. Whitney's $250,000 will is being fought by his widow, Mrs. Annie Whitney. The Whitney were married in 1917 and lived together three years. Mr. Whitney left his wife. It is said that Mrs. Whitney will get half the estate in trust. The other half is divided between Mrs. Barker and Mrs. Carrie W. Barker, Mrs. Whitney's sister.

In her contest Mrs. Whitney's attorneys threaten execution of $250,000.

Municipal Clerk, Stricken on Train, Dies

Alva C. Peck, clerk in the Boston Public Works Department, living at No. 8 Harvard terrace, Alton, is dead after suffering a paralytic shock on a train at Lynn. He was removed to the Lynn Hospital. He entered the employ of the city in 1891.

Governor Walsh Denounces American Measure

LONDON, June 1.—Large numbers of Americans, fearing war between Germany and the United States, are hastening from Germany into Switzerland, according to advices received here today.

A dispatch from Bern to the Morning Post states that during the last few days the departure of Americans has become a "positive exodus."

"Many Americans who have long been residents of Germany," the dispatch continues, "declare they have been misled on the streets by the popular hatred against Americans. Their residence there is no longer desirable in some places it is unsafe for any but German-Americans to remain in Germany. The Americans arriving here state that it is inadvisable to converse in English in the streets. Only those compelled by business reasons are remaining. They declare that life in Germany is impossible except for the German-American."

Departures from Berlin state that German political circles believe America is playing into the hands of Great Britain and has entered, or will soon enter, into a formal understanding with the allies.

President Says He Has Drafted No Rejoinder Yet

WASHINGTON, June 1.—President Wilson told callers today that he had not yet drafted a rejoinder to the German reply to his Laurin note and no such draft would be presented to the cabinet meeting. The chief executive, however, intimated that his reply would not be delayed many days, and he said his discussion with the cabinet today would go far toward determining his attitude on the question.

He made a special request that the newspapers refrain from conjecturing what his reply would be, because such conjectures might be accepted across the Atlantic as authoritative and prove embarrassing to the government.

The President said he had received the German note only yesterday and that it was entirely too early for him to answer what he said to what his answer would be.

CABINET TAKES UP NEW NOTE

WASHINGTON, June 1.—President Wilson intends to shape the course of the United States government in the international crisis which has arisen as to leave no doubt ahead of the country's purpose. He is to speak, but, if necessary, to act, for the cause of humanity.

The President has practically determined that Germany's avoidance of the larger questions of humanity and the spirit of international law by a technical argument on a hitherto undisputed point in the statutes of nations—the exercise of the right of visit and search by war craft when encountering merchantmen, whether carrying contraband or not—must be met promptly with a note again setting forth briefly the facts as found by investigation of the facts late as to the cargo and peaceful equipment of the Lusitania and reiterating the earnest intention of the United States to hold the German government to a "strict accountability" for all violations of American rights on the high seas.

French Cruiser Destroys German Haifa Consulate

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.

HAIFA, June 1.—A French cruiser has destroyed the German consulate at Haifa, the Ministry of Marine announced today. The action was taken by the French cruiser, which was in the harbor at Haifa, when it was informed that the German consulate was being used as a base for the German navy.

Views Outlined

The President, it is understood, presented an outline of his proposed reply to Germany to the cabinet at today's meeting. Tomorrow the President will receive Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador. Their conference is considered of great importance.

The conference between the President and Ambassador von Bernstorff will be held at the White House. It will be the ambassador's first visit to the White House since the outbreak of war, and the appointment is made at the ambassador's request.

President Wilson is expected to inform the Ambassador that the only way the German government can satisfy the United States is to give assurance there will be no further attacks upon unarmed merchant vessels without warning.

The American The Only Paper Gaining In Advertising Over Last Year

During the four weeks beginning with May 2, and ending with May 29, the American was the only paper of those publishing Sunday editions to show a gain in advertising over the same days of last year. The other three papers all lost.

During the month of April the American was the only one of the four papers gaining in advertising. The others all lost.

The gain of the American in May was greater than in April. The losses of the other three papers were greater in May than in April.

The great home-going circulation of the Boston American, the largest evening circulation and the largest Sunday circulation in Boston, produces maximum results for advertisers. The Boston American, both evening and Sunday, reaches in their homes exactly the people to whom every merchant wants to appeal.

No merchant can get as regular customers any large number of these hundreds of thousands of representative men and women who regularly read the Boston American except by appealing to them through their home newspaper.

VON BERNSTORFF WILL MEET WILSON AT THE WHITE HOUSE

giving Americans aboard a chance to take to the boats.

The President's reply to Germany was sent Friday. It is now believed.

WHAT WILSON MAY SAY.

The President's note is expected to state in effect:

You have deliberately killed American citizens—more than 100 innocent men, women and children. We warned you that you would be held to a strict accountability for the actions of your submarine command.

You ignored those warnings. You ignored those warnings.

We demand that you make full reparation for the loss of the Americans who went to the bottom with the Lusitania and that you give us solemn assurances that you will change your methods of submarine warfare.

You have replied with a series of misstatements which you have sought to capitalize into technical justification for murder.

Neither the statements presented nor any other excuses can be construed into a justification for attacks such as that upon the Lusitania.

Your patience is exhausted. In the name of humanity we demand immediate and solemn assurances that there will be no more attacks upon unarmed passenger vessels.

BERNSTORFF'S VIEW.

There is reason to believe that the German Ambassador is going to the White House tomorrow to personally assure the President that the Kaiser does not want war with the United States, and that there will be no more submarine attacks upon unarmed merchant vessels.

It is believed Von Bernstorff will tell the President that German agents in this country misinform his government con-

Gardner for War If Germany Will Not Yield to U. S.

Congressman A. P. Gardner, addressing the Spanish War Veterans at Hamilton, declared:

If Germany will not yield we must call Congress together and recommend a declaration of war.

Merely to break off diplomatic relations would be a pitiable farce.

So far as I can see Germany has called our hands. We have got to make good or back down.

If we take strong stands in dealing with weak nations, and weak nations in dealing with strong nations we shall earn the world's contempt and our own as well.

President Wilson cannot change his course now. It is too late.

Turning the Lusitania with special reference to the guns which she was supposed to have mounted.

Thereupon, the German government assured the people of the country through the press that the Lusitania was sunk because she was an armed munition-bearer and that she carried passengers only accidentally.

It is expected to state that the German government has to give some respect to the public opinion of the Fatherland and it would have made a fatal political error if it had accepted the demands made in the Lusitania note and quickly consented to put an end to submarine warfare.

Furthermore, he is expected to tell the President that it has been difficult for him because of the condition of transmission facilities to keep his government correctly informed at all times concerning conditions in the United States.

MAY RECALL GERARD.

If there is a further hitch in the negotiations with Germany, it is stated in high official circles that diplomatic relations will be severed and Ambassador Gerard instructed to return from Berlin.

This would not necessarily mean war. Only a few months ago, in the case of Mexico, when Huerta was in ostensible control, the United States took this action, following outrages upon its citizens and the insult to the American flag.

When Zelaya was in control in Nicaragua, the United States severed diplomatic relations after the killing of Cannon and Goetz, but war did not follow.

There are a number of other cases in the history of this country where foreign representatives either on the left or right of their own government were handed their passports. In all of these cases some representative of the foreign government remained in charge of the legation or embassy.

Information from American and British sources alike have combined to satisfy the President that Germany has been misinformed in being told that the Lusitania carried guns.

SOURCE OF EXPLOSION.

In regard to the German contention that British merchantmen have been accustomed to fly neutral flags, the President, it is said, is not disposed to let this enter into his consideration of the Lusitania case.

He is not likely to regard as an extenuation of the attack on the Lusitania, it is declared, the

COURT CHAPLAIN PRAYS FOR VICTORY FOR THE ITALIANS

By CAMILLO CIANFARRA. Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

ROME, June 1.—Before an audience which included Queen Elena, the Queen mother, Margherita, the Crown Prince and Queen Elisabeth, as well as the whole of the Roman nobility, Monsignor Pecorella, the court chaplain, recited the following prayer, which is regarded as the most significant authorized by the Vatican.

You, God of Armies, bless, protect and lead to victory the brave soldiers of Italy. They are the glorious distributors of Your justice. Inasmuch as it is Your justice, the liberty of the people for which they fight, the retrieving of their violated rights for which they give their blood, the deliverance of their own brothers for which they are heroically sacrificing themselves, the honor and greatness of the Fatherland for which they are all ready to die, God of Armies, bless, protect and lead them to victory, as their victory is Italy's and Your's.

lines concerning conditions in Germany plea that the ship carried no German reservists and munitions of war.

A high official expert of the Navy Department said today that it is impossible to say whether or not cartridges on the Lusitania would have exploded under the circumstances surrounding the sinking of that vessel.

"Army and navy specialists are awaiting eagerly all the facts that will be brought out by the investigation of the Lusitania before they form or express an opinion as to the theory of an explosion inside the ship after she was struck," said the navy official.

"Up to this time we have nothing on which to base a safe opinion. I would not risk my reputation on the evidence at hand. No tests made by our navy will fit the Lusitania case."

Whirled to Death in Granite Shed

Engineer-Charles James Pontali, who supported his widowed mother, was whirled to death today in the granite shed of James H. Jenkins & Company on Vernon street, when he was struck by a falling stone.

Many fires are reported, but these being in the English papers it could be the airship victims.

Further particulars will be known as soon as they can be collected and collated.

REPORT MANY FIRES.

The paragraph relating to "small fires" is regarded as significant. It intimates that they are "reported," but maintains that they "cannot be 'small fires'" connecting with the airship raid.

This statement hardly served to increase public confidence that the Zeppelin strike had not wrought considerable damage.

As late as noon today no definite information that could be published in the English papers or that could be transmitted by correspondent was forthcoming from the official press bureau.

But the little news that the official press bureau did give out indicated that the Zeppelin raid had caused a certain extent of damage to the city of London.

When details of the raid are given, it is probable that the Zeppelin raid will be regarded as one of the most serious of the war.

CANADIAN TROOPS FOUGHT FOR 4 DAYS WITH ONLY TEA AS FOOD

By JOHN C. FOSTER,
Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

LONDON, June 1.—A thrilling description of the great battle north of Ypres, Belgium, in which the Canadian troops fought for four days with no food to sustain them but tea, was given today by Philip Sampson of Chicago, who enlisted in the Fourteenth battalion of Canadian troops, Kempson, who was wounded north of Ypres, is now convalescing at the Duke of Connaught's Red Cross hospital, which was established at Glendon, the home of Walden Astor.

For four days and nights the battle raged, and it was certainly one of the hottest engagements of the war.
"Sunday, the last day of the fight, was the worst of all. During the four days we had absolutely nothing to eat, our only nourishment being sugar and tea."

The Germans opened the attack along the entire line with bombs. I was one of a small party that resisted the first Canadian guns, and we immediately turned them against the Germans.

Our position was made doubly hard by the fact that all the time we were under fire we received no aid from our own artillery.

WE WERE STRUCK.
In the meantime the Germans were striking with both infantry and artillery. The fear of death, under such circumstances, makes away after the first day, but I was worried by the fact that my mate, a man from Glasgow, had been struck.

All our men were hugging the bottoms of our trenches, for we were the only thing we could do. The Germans were spraying our line with burning shrapnel, and suddenly a flaming shell struck the back of the line. It was painful and I thought for a time I had been hit nearly in two. After a time, although weak from loss of blood, I decided to go to the aid of my mate. I crawled through the trenches, but when I reached his body
I was too late to help him.

"He was already dead," I understand. I was determined to take it to his home. Here it is on my way out.

"During all this time the Germans were pouring a heavy fire in upon the Canadian line, and the air was filled with smoke and flying shells and clouds of earth."

PERCE FIGHTING.
"The death of my bunkie was a terrible blow, for a man gets mighty strongly attached to a friend at a time like this. I killed one with my own hands. I felt that it was my duty to carry back some memento of that brave fellow to his mother. He would have done it in case of my death."

"The fighting was terribly hard all the time. No quarter and no mercy."

action throughout the awful Sunday out of my company of 200 men only fifteen were left.

THE GREAT test to my life I made was not out of the trench, but of the fact that if I remained and the Germans captured the works I would be hanged. The Germans had been showing signs of mercy. They had wounded enemies.

"With two last cuts in my back from the shrapnel splinter I crawled my stomach for a mile and a half.
I finally reached the first dressing station at 300 yards where a nurseman gave me first aid. From there I was able to walk to Ypres to have my wound properly dressed."

But though we had the toughest time of our lives, and though we had the satisfaction of knowing that the great Ypresian guard had been beaten by us.

HEAVY LOSSES.
Some of our battalions, 1,000 strong had been whittled down to 123 numbers by the German fire, but the Provincials lost more heavily than we.
No doubt the Germans have made considerable advance since I left the front, but I will wager they lost ground when our men began to charge. They can't stand the cold steel. This was shown, when we charged against them after the French colonials (Algerians) had fallen back from the effects of the appalling gases. We also retired, but upon receiving orders to counter attack we overtook the Germans with a terrible onslaught. The Germans went down like flies before our attack. We killed many of them. Those who could not stand their lives squalling like chicken pigs."

King Victor and Czar
Exchange Greeting

BOMB, June 1.—King Victor and Czar Nicholas exchanged greetings at the moment when the soldiers of Italy are advancing boldly against the common enemy, lining closer the brotherhood of arms between us and our ally, the Russian empire. I send to Your Majesty with joyful heart my warmest wishes for the success of conflict and the peace of the world.

The Czar replied:
"I am deeply touched by the congratulatory message of Your Majesty.
I desire to express to you the great pleasure I feel at seeing our two armies united by the bonds of brotherhood, and I beg Your Majesty to accept my most fervent wishes for victory."

Seek 1,000 Women
to Make Shells

BROW, June 1.—Women will play an increasingly important part in supplying the huge demands of the British army for shells. At the Vickers' Home and Maxon Works, 50 women have been employed in the manufacture of munitions have given such satisfaction that the firm has decided immediately to employ an additional thousand.

Last German Forces
Ordered to Front

AMSTERDAM, June 1.—The Reichs-minister of Berlin has published an order calling out all first class men of the Landsturm, or the final reserve force, not previously summoned. Germany in Germany must report between June 3 and June 10, Germania outside of Germany as soon as possible.

Allies Have
New Plan to Fight Gases

PARIS, Jan. 1.—Scientists adding the war bureau have discovered, it is believed, a means whereby the poisonous gas-filled bombs of the Germans can be rendered ineffective.

Representatives of the British War Office are here purchasing hundreds of ordinary garden sprayers such as they are used for watering flowers. With these it is planned to spray the atmosphere of the strait with a chemical compound which will neutralize the gas.

The sprayers are to be used in the strait of the Dardanelles. The sprayers are to be used in the strait of the Dardanelles. The sprayers are to be used in the strait of the Dardanelles.

500,000 RUSSIAN REINFORCEMENTS

By STEVEN W. BURNETT,
Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

VIENNA, via Berlin and Amsterdam, June 1.—That Russia has sent fresh troops to the Galician front is the information transmitted here by correspondents at the Austro-German headquarters. These forces have been concentrated behind the Danube River to stop the Austro-German drive in Galicia.

The correspondents state that the destination made of these troops indicates in the opinion of the Austro-German command the intention of the Russians to make their last stand fifty miles east of the Danube River, at the same time attempting to wipe out the troops there. (Austro-German lines.)

Despite the reinforcements received by the Russians, the Austro-German command expects the recapture of all Galician territory lost in the early months of the war.

German Charge Is Denied by Italians

ROME, June 1.—The German charge that Italy was guilty of an international breach by refusing to insure the safety of foreign diplomats attached to the Vatican was officially denied.

The statement of denial says in part: "Prince von Bismarck, the German ambassador to Italy, was duly informed that Italy was determined to uphold the sovereignty of the Pope under any and all circumstances. The diplomats attached to the Vatican were at liberty to remain here and the government would employ every means to protect them."

ROME, June 1.—Pope Benedict XV, in his weekly audience, granted a number of newly ordained priests who have just been graduated from the college, declared that he was praying that the United States may be spared the horrors of war.

Max Kennedy, pastor of the American College and a member of American priests were received in private audience by the Pope at the Vatican on Monday. The pastor in delivering the young priests upon their future activities, said that the European war had opened up a large field for Christian aid.

By-Ways

Hundreds of small villages, away from main-travelled roads, are readily accessible to salesmen who know how inexpensive and how easy it is to telephone these places from convenient junction points.

Sometimes it is impossible to "make" all these places each trip, or personally to visit each customer often than once a year.

A telephone call is the best known substitute for a personal visit. It keeps one's personality alive. It gratifies the customer. And frequently it pays for itself a hundred-fold by the casual re-orders it induces.

There will be no toll charge on a Particular Party Call if you are not sure you will be given the Toll Operator.

All Series "D" Votes
Must Be In Today

Contest Department Open
Till 5 P. M. to Receive Them

Several of the candidates in the AMERICAN'S California Tours Contest have telephoned to the Contest Editor that they were not credited with their proper vote totals in the standing which appeared in last Sunday's AMERICAN. We have explained to these candidates, as patiently as possible, that last Sunday's vote standing contained only those votes polled in Series "A" and Series "B." IT DID NOT CONTAIN ANY VOTES POLLED IN SERIES "C." The standing for Series "C" will appear in the Sunday AMERICAN, June 13, one week from next Sunday.

Candidates who have been thoughtful enough to keep a record of their votes can quickly satisfy themselves of the accuracy of our figures by adding to our printed figures whatever they polled in Series "C." Then they will know, approximately, what their vote totals should be in the next list.

If a candidate's name appeared away down at the bottom of last Sunday's list, that is no cause for discouragement. An investment of energy during the next four weeks can change the position of many of these tall-enders to leaders—and put them among the twenty-five leaders, before the race is finished.

It's work that counts. Every time a man puts a dollar in a savings bank, and leaves it there, he has accomplished something which he can draw on later, and so it is with this race for the twenty-five tours offered by the Boston AMERICAN—every consecutive set of votes draws interest in the form of double vote value, with which plan the contestants all seem to be thoroughly familiar.

BAY STATE PLEA FOR FRANK

Massachusetts Delegation Waits on Governor Slator Today.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 1.—The fate of Leo M. Frank is today in the hands of the prison commission and Governor Slator. The hearing in the petition for commutation of his sentence from death to life imprisonment as the convicted slayer of Mary Phagan, came to a close late yesterday, and the commission of three took the case under advisement. Announcement was made that the recommendation would be made to the Governor within the next ten days, probably this week.

The Massachusetts delegation will wait on Governor John Marshall Slator some time today and make a special plea for the condemned man.

A Massachusetts petition containing the names of 25,000 who are opposed to the hanging of Frank and seeking to give him an opportunity to prove that he was unjustly convicted of the murder of Mary Phagan, was presented.

A plea for executive clemency was made to the commission by ex-Governor Eugene N. Foss, chairman of the Massachusetts delegation; Dr. F. R. Connelley, of Fall River, member of the National Democratic Committee; Dr. Ernest H. Gruening and Alexander Britton, Boston newspapermen.

A plea for executive clemency was made to the commission by ex-Governor Eugene N. Foss, chairman of the Massachusetts delegation; Dr. F. R. Connelley, of Fall River, member of the National Democratic Committee; Dr. Ernest H. Gruening and Alexander Britton, Boston newspapermen.

Mr. Foss presented to the commission a suitcase full of petitions and two special petitions signed by prominent men in Dean Homer Albers of Boston University, John E. Little, Mayor Curley, Hon. Samuel J. Edwards, Governor Josiah T. Aldrich, General Asa P. French, former Attorney General James M. Smith, Herbert Parker, District Attorney Joseph C. Follett and many others who urge the Georgia authorities to commute the sentence of Frank.

Mr. Connelley of Fall River made a stirring plea for Frank. He told an eloquent tribute to the courage of the South. This was brought about by the appearance of a woman who spoke for a leader unable to come herself.

"The plea is only humanitarily," Mr. Connelley said, "and that there is an element of doubt in the minds of the people of the North, and we are supported by the millions of people of the North who are in a position to give him the benefit of the doubt."

"The case of Leo M. Frank is one in which every human being in the United States is or ought to be interested by reason of the fact that it involves the integrity of Georgia. And it is, I believe, the duty of every citizen of this country to cast his reflection upon the great Commonwealth which you represent."

The mass of quotations of the testimony which I have seen on this case, the reports of disinterested investigators from the entire South, the dissenting opinion of Justice Holmes and Justice Hughes of the United States Supreme Court, all clearly indicate that the case presents a trial on this case an influence over of the minds of the people, which would be highly probable to have any twelve men of ordinary frame in our midst to their own safety if they retained a verdict of guilty.

"I ask you in the name of justice and humanity to give the condemned man a chance to prove his innocence," Dr. Gruening declared that he loved Frank to be released of the crime he is accused of having committed.

"My belief in his innocence," he said, "has been based upon the testimony of the men who were with him at the time of the crime, and I believe that the commission will be able to find out the truth about this case."

Dr. Gruening declared that he loved Frank to be released of the crime he is accused of having committed.
